

Christophe NAVARRE
Chairman of the Board

Born in Belgium, Christophe Navarre gained a degree in Business Administration from Liège University and then joined Continental Bank in 1980, subsequently moving to Exxon where he fulfilled various marketing and sales roles for the Esso Group.

In 1989 he joined Interbrew where he successfully managed a number of subsidiaries, developing a strategy based on promoting premium brands and launching highly innovative products.

Christophe Navarre joined LVMH Group in 1997, taking charge of the prestigious cognac producer JAS Hennessy & Co. In May 2001 he was appointed President and Chief Executive Officer of Moët-Hennessy, the Wines and Spirits division of LVMH which owns the prestigious champagne brands Moët & Chandon, Dom Pérignon, Mercier, Veuve Clicquot, Ruinart and Krug, whisky brands Glenmorangie and Ardbeg, vodka brand Belvedere and several wines from the New World. He left LVMH Group in September 2017.

President of White Eagle International, a company he founded, he is dedicated to his activities as an investor.

Among his other official commitments, Christophe Navarre is also Chairman of Vivino, a board member of Jet Smarter, a member of the Heineken Advisory Board and Vinexpo Chairman of the Board.